Wine List

CORENUCOPIA

Welcome to Our Corenu copia of Wine

Wine is, at its heart, a delicious collaboration between nature and people. Every bottle tells a story that begins with farmers-hands in the soil, weathering sun, wind, and rain-who coax grapes into being. Those grapes are then guided by winemakers who transform them with skill, patience and just a little bit of magic. Together, they give us the gift you'll find poured into your glass.

Our list celebrates the rich history of the world's wine regions: from the sun-soaked hillsides of Tuscany to the misty valleys of Oregon, from ancient vineyards that have seen centuries pass to new producers rewriting the rules. Wine has been around for thousands of years, but here's the thing-we don't think it should feel ancient or intimidating. We want wine to be joyful, approachable, and, above all, fun.

That's where our sommelier team comes in. They're fountains of knowledge (and delightfully nerdy about grape varieties), but more importantly, they're here for you. Whether you're chasing down the perfect pairing, curious about the difference between Syrah and Shiraz, or just in the mood for something red, they've got you covered.

We think of this wine list as a Corenu copia - a horn of plenty-overflowing with choices. It's brimming with bottles that are thoughtful, adventurous, comforting, and sometimes a little surprising. Our hope is that you'll find something here that feels just right for this moment, in this place, with these people.

So, swirl, sip, laugh, and enjoy. This is your journey through the vines.

"I feel sorry for people who don't drink. When they wake up in the morning, that's as good as they're going to feel all day." – Frank Sinatra

Champagne

Welcome to the land where bubbles are born! Champagne is more than just a drink – it's a region in northern France where chalky soils, cool climate, and centuries of savoir-faire come together to make liquid celebration. Monks were tinkering here as far back as the 1600s (yes, Dom Pérignon really did help refine the magic), and today every pop of a cork is a little piece of that history.

"In success you deserve it, and in defeat, you need it." – Winston Churchill

Côte de Beaune

Welcome to the southern half of Burgundy's famous "golden slope," where Chardonnay struts like royalty and Pinot Noir whispers poetry. The Côte de Beaune is home to some of the most legendary white wines in the world — Meursault, Puligny-Montrachet, Chassagne-Montrachet — golden, nutty, mineral-laced marvels shaped by limestone soils and a cool climate.

"Montrachet should be drunk on bended knee with head bowed." – Hugh Johnson

Alsace

Alsace is France's sunniest wine region, tucked between the Vosges Mountains and the Rhine, and it shows in the glass. With more sunshine than Bordeaux and a patchwork of soils — granite, limestone, clay, and sandstone — the vineyards here give grapes plenty of personality to play with. Riesling is racy and mineral, Gewürztraminer is spicy and exotic, Pinot Gris is rich and textured, and even Pinot Noir is finding its groove. The wines of Alsace are like the villages themselves: colorful, aromatic, a little eccentric, and full of charm.

“The best wine is the one you take a second glass of.” – Marc Beyer, Léon Beyer

South Africa

South African wine is a delicious contradiction born of centuries-old vines rooted in some of the planet's most ancient geology, yet bursting with a modern, adventurous spirit. From the sun-drenched Cape to the cool coastal slopes of Walker Bay, this is where ocean breezes meet rugged mountains and bold ideas. The Dutch planted the first vines in the 1600s; today, a new generation is rewriting the story — crafting wines that are as vibrant, diverse, and unpretentious as the land itself.

“This Cape is the most stately thing and the fairest cape we saw in the whole circumference of the earth.” – Sir Francis Drake, upon first seeing the Cape.

Côte de Nuits

The Côte de Nuits is the cradle of Burgundy's most illustrious Pinot Noirs. Its famed villages — Gevrey-Chambertin, Chambolle-Musigny, Vosne-Romanée — are stitched across slopes of limestone and marl first mapped by Cistercian monks centuries ago. Here, subtle shifts in soil and aspect give rise to some of the world's most complex and long-lived wines. This is Pinot Noir's spiritual home.

“To make great wines, one needs humility.” – Aubert de Villaine (D.R.C.)

Bordeaux

Born where the Garonne and Dordogne rivers meet, this patchwork of gravel, clay, and limestone has been nurturing vines since the Romans first realised that wine tastes better here. The climate? Mild and maritime, just unpredictable enough to keep winemakers humble and vintages exciting. From medieval merchants to modern icons, Bordeaux built its fame on balance, power and poise, structure and soul. Whether it's a polished Pauillac or a sultry Saint-Emilion, each bottle is a reminder that a few centuries of practice really do make perfect.

Rhône Valley

From the wild, rugged slopes of the north, where Syrah struts with smoky elegance, to the generous south, where Grenache ripens under Provençal skies, this valley has been fermenting greatness since the Romans were taking tasting notes. Its soils are a mosaic of granite, limestone, and river-rolled pebbles — each bottle a chapter in a story that's been told for over 2,000 years.

Italy

From Alpine peaks to sun-drenched islands, Italy is a mosaic of microclimates, ancient soils, and unapologetic passion. With over a thousand native grape varieties — many found nowhere else on earth — each region tells its own story: crisp mountain whites from the north, soulful island reds from the south, and everything delicious in between. Winemaking here isn't just tradition; it's identity — shaped by Romans, monks, and modern dreamers alike. In Italy, wine isn't made. It's lived.

California

From the fog-kissed vineyards of Sonoma to the sunbaked valleys of Paso Robles. Here, ocean breezes, mountain ranges, and a touch of seismic drama conspire to create one of the most diverse wine regions on earth. The first vines arrived with missionaries in the 1700s, but the modern wine revolution was pure California — bold, curious, and a little rebellious.
